

COMMITTEE WILL FORMULATE BILL

Senate Financiers to Investigate State Resources and Expenditures.

GETTYSBURG CELEBRATION

Pennsylvania Asks Virginia to Aid—Bids for Road Work.

For the purpose of preparing a tentative appropriation bill for the guidance of the members of the General Assembly, the Senate Finance Committee will begin its sessions to-morrow in committee room No. 3, in the Capitol basement. This committee is composed of Senators George B. Keel, of Richmond; W. A. Garrett, of Henry; W. W. Sale, of Norfolk; Saxon W. Holt, of Newport News; Edward Echols, of Staunton; A. C. Harman, of Richmond; T. Ashby Wickham, of Henrico; Don P. Halsey, of Lynchburg; N. B. Early, Jr., of Greene; George Latham Fletcher, of Fauquier; J. D. Elam, of Brunswick; and E. E. Holland, of Nansemond. There is one vacancy, due to the resignation of Governor-elect William H. Mann.

This committee meets in pursuance of an act of the last General Assembly. Its deliberations are likely to extend over several weeks, for it will hear and consider arguments regarding appropriations from every department of the State government. It will have before it the annual report of the State Auditor of Public Accounts, and will determine to what length the Commonwealth can safely go in the matters of expenditures for the next two years.

When the committee's bill is formulated it will be printed, and a copy will be sent to every member of the Legislature. The measure will not necessarily be followed in detail by the regular appropriation bill, but it will be used as a sort of guide, a starting point from which to consider the expenses and receipts of State government.

ROAD BIDS OPENED

Atlanta Concern Lowest Bidder on Pulaski County Highway.

Bids were opened yesterday noon at the office of the State Highway Commissioner for the erection of 2.6 miles of road in Pulaski county, from the town of Pulaski to McAdam Road. This is not a part of the system of roads to be built with the proceeds of the new bond issue which was voted on December 4, but had been already arranged for.

Only two bids were presented. The lower was that of Wardens Hotel & Co., and was for $12,755.79. The other was presented by Smith & Lowe, at $12,737.13. Both the bidders are Pulaski concerns.

The Highway Department will recommend the adoption of the lower bid. In practically every case the recommendations of the department are adopted by the Boards of Supervisors.

At the same time bids were opened for the construction of a bridge across State River, in Buckingham county. In this instance there were three propositions. Austin Brothers, of Atlanta, bid $1,421 for the complete work, and 1,274 should the county furnish the lumber. To the bid of the Roanoke Bridge Company, of Atlanta, amounted to $1,462 for the complete job, or $1,338 eliminating the lumber. The third bidder was the York Bridge Company, of York, Pa., who asked $1,454 complete, or $1,254 without the lumber. A recommendation will be made for the adoption of the bid of Austin Brothers.

CELEBRATE GETTYSBURG

Virginia Asked to Join Pennsylvania in Semi-Centennial.

Virginia is requested to join Pennsylvania and such other States as may be interested in a celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg. Under an act of the Pennsylvania Legislature a commission has been appointed by Governor Stuart to make preliminary arrangements for such an affair, and to endeavor to engage the co-operation of Congress and the other States of the Union. The celebration will be held on July 1, 2 and 3, 1915.

Governor Swanson, whose good offices in the matter are requested, will refer the matter to Governor Mann, during whose administration the affair will be held.

COMPLAINT IS MADE

Former Board of Health Employee Aggrieved.

Whispers that charges will be brought against the State Board of Health seem to have originated in a complaint made by W. B. Watkins, former clerk in the offices of the board. Mr. Watkins is aggrieved because his services were discontinued without compensation. He says that it was a mere matter of economy, and that he saved money as a result of the change he made. He says Mr. Watkins was an efficient clerk.

There is no disposition to deny the fact that the board has cut down more money than appropriated for it, but every member is confident that its course will be endorsed by the Legislature, considering the use to which the money has been put.

Governor Asked to Speak. Governor Swanson has been invited to deliver the oration on "Washington" at the annual celebration of St. John's Lodge, No. 1, Free and Accepted Masons, of Newark, N. J. This is one of

PRISONER SAYS HE IS 125 YEARS OLD

Remembers George Washington and Time Indians Were Driven From Richmond.

Old and decrepit, scantily clad and without a home, Tom Berry, who declares that he is 125 years old and that he remembers George Washington, was picked up on a charge of vagrancy last night, and detained in the First Police Station until he could be taken out to the Colored Almshouse.

Uncle Tom looks his age. His long locks are scant and gray; his limbs are feeble, and his back is bent with the weight of the years he has forgotten. George Washington died 110 years ago, which would make Uncle Tom Berry a boy of fifteen when the Father of His Country passed away.

"Massa Washington was taken sick here," said Uncle Tom, "and they carried him to Fredericksburg, and then to some place next to Washington, where he died." He said he remembered the event well, and declared that he knew George Washington personally, having often carried papers into his office. He was born somewhere back in the years he has forgotten of the Appomattox River, and belonged to "Miss" Bessie Perkins, whose husband was a Dr. Smith, and who lived on "Jennetstown" Island.

Asked if he remembered the Revolutionary War, he shook his head, but said that he remembered the British War, and remembered when the Indians were driven back from Richmond, then but a small town. Uncle Tom was persistent as to his memories, and the early days of his life seemed clearer to him than the intervening years. "My children," he said, "I scattered over de yekth, an' I don't know what any of 'em is now. I been 'uncle' round an' round, an' I ain't got no whar to lay my hand. I've tired, an' de rheumatism is in my bones. I done live a long, long time, an' de worl' is changed. Day ain't nobody left now, an' I'm all alone. I sho' is old."

The ancient wayfarer tottered back to the cell where room was made for him, and he will soon be taken to the Almshouse. He looks old, and if he has not lived as long as he says he has lived, he appears, at least, to be very close to the century mark, and to be near the end of his travels.

Still Alarms.

Two still alarms of fire were turned in last night, one from Third Street and the other from Fulton. Neither blaze caused much damage.

Marriage License.

A marriage license was issued yesterday by Deputy Clerk Brown, of the Hustings Court, to Richard F. Simmons and Ruth Temple Gilliam.

Broke Pailing on His Head.

John Gordon, colored, got into an altercation with Douglas Tallafioro last night, and the latter struck him on the head with a pailing, breaking the pailing, and incidentally raising a big knot on Gordon's head. The latter was treated by Dr. Davis, of the Ambulance corps.

Will Elect Officers.

The election of officers for the ensuing year will take place. Dr. A. L. Gray will read a paper on "Illustrations of X-Ray Work," which will be discussed by Dr. C. M. Hazen and Dr. D. D. Talley.

December Term.

The December term of the Law and Equity Court will open to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock, when the docket will be called and cases set for hearing. The term promises to be a busy one.

VIRGINIA BONDS GOOD INVESTMENT

Rank as High as Those of Any State—Debt Is Now $24,986,959.83.

Should Virginia pay her entire interest-bearing debt as it is at present, she would have to come across with a check for $21,986,959.83. This is divided as follows: Century bonds, bearing 5 per cent, $10,000,000.00; Riddieberger bonds, bearing 3 per cent, $5,000,000.00; school and college bonds, bearing 4 per cent, $2,383,655.85; school and college bonds bearing 5 per cent, $2,383,655.85; State Church endowment fund at 6 per cent, $1,190,000.00.

These figures are to be found in the annual report of Second Auditor John G. Dew to the Governor, for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1905. The Riddieberger bonds and certificates, as issued in Readjuster days, originally amounted to $2,383,655.85. The State has taken in, cancelled and retired $3,361,407.85 of this amount, as follows:

Amount held by sinking fund commissioners at time of passage of act of February 20, 1892, and canceled under its requirements, $2,357,576.60; purchased by sinking fund commissioners with dividends from the State's interest in the R. F. & P. Railroad and other sums, $230,000.00; also with surplus in the treasury, all of which has been canceled, $115,000.00; also with special appropriation of $125,000 and amount remaining in the treasury, $129,400.00; received from Richmond and Danville Railroad Company, in settlement of indebtedness to the State, and canceled, $148,399.46; received from Upper Appomattox Company, and canceled, $10,841.26; from defaulting officers on account of indebtedness to State, and canceled, $152,967.54.

Public Holds Most.

Of the nearly six millions remaining of the Riddieberger bonds, about a million and a half is held by the public, and the remainder by the State.

It is true that there is in addition $1,031,551.89 of West Virginia interest-bearing certificates, and $74,051.60 of non-interest-bearing West Virginia certificates, making a total of $1,105,603.49, but Judge Dew calls attention to the fact that these certificates, which were issued in funding the Riddieberger bonds, are no part of Virginia's debt.

At the time of the beginning of the operation of the first funding act, which was on July 1, 1871, the total debt of the State, principal and interest, amounted to $48,718,112.23, of which one-third was secured by West Virginia's portion. It will thus be seen that Virginia owes about $5,000,000 less than in 1871.

Of the old unfunded non-interest-bearing debt there still remains $184,362.81 of principal, and $287,344.03 of interest. Of this sum, the Second Auditor estimates that possibly about $100,000, representing principal and interest, may be held in the name of certain internal improvement companies, which cannot be funded. Judge Dew further feels safe in saying that a considerable portion of the residue, perhaps as much as one-half, may have been lost or destroyed, and will therefore never be presented for settlement.

Process of Funding.

Bonds issued in funding the old ante-bellum debt, under the act of 1892, bore interest from July 1, 1891, but those issued under the amendments of that act bear interest from the date of issue. They are, respectively, 1, 1891, and run 100 years, and are both registered and coupon. They bore interest at the rate of 2 per cent, for the first ten years, and are now bearing 3 per cent, for the remaining ninety years. This interest is payable semi-annually, on the first days of January and July of each year, at the office of the Second Auditor.

These bonds will be redeemable on July 1, 1991, or at the pleasure of the State at any previous time, upon payment of the principal and interest at par. All funding is required to be done in person or by attorney.

The Commonwealth by two acts of the Legislature offers to trust funds a safe investment in these bonds, and secures against loss such fiduciaries as convert into bonds under these acts the interests committed to their care. It is distinctly stated that these investments are to be made by trustees, thereby protecting the fiduciary, and at the same time guarding the interest of the beneficiary. The Second Auditor says that "the suggestion of the conversion into these bonds of the interests of orphans, infants and other requiring the care of guardians, trustees and other persons, places the State under a peculiarly strong obligation to guard most zealously her credit and the strength of her securities."

"This double protection, coupled with the fact that the bonds are made exempt from taxation by the State or any county or municipal corporation, leaves," continues Judge Dew, "together with their other attractive investment features, has created for them a steady and growing demand, not only by fiduciaries, but by the general public, as well as others beyond the borders of Virginia who are seeking permanent investments."

Bonds in High Favor. The Second Auditor asserts that "as a result of close watchfulness on the part of those entrusted with the management of the finances of the Commonwealth, it is stated on what may be termed the best financial authority, that the bonds of the Commonwealth are rated as high, if not higher, than those of any other State in the Union."

This shows that the financial public is watching Virginia securities with as available collateral. With this fact much interest has been manifested in sinking fund and its management, and the way of retiring or even holding the State's securities, and that, too, without inflicting hardship on any branch of the government, and at the same time giving relief to the people in retaining in the State's hands the interest on bonds held by the fund."

CITY NOT LIABLE

Jury Awards Damages in Suit of Rev. Philip E. Throckmorton.

The suit of Rev. Philip E. Throckmorton, against the city of Richmond, for damages in the sum of $5,000, on trial in the City Circuit Court, ended yesterday morning in a verdict for the city. Mr. Throckmorton asked damages for bodily injuries received by falling over an obstruction in the street in the recently annexed section of Funa Hill. The jury held in effect that the city could not be expected at once to put the streets in the new sections where the neighborhood is not sufficiently built up into the same condition as elsewhere throughout the city, and that the city is not liable from one day's delay in the laying of the streets. A motion to set aside the verdict was overruled by Judge Barksdale, sitting for Judge Scott.

FOREIGN STUFFS MADE NEAR HOME

High Tariff to Cut Out French and Italian Labels for Others. More Local.

For the high liver who is getting tired of paying steadily advancing prices for table delicacies, this Christmas will be the last for many of the things that he has liked to have. Under the new tariff, the duty is so high on some things and so absolutely prohibitive on others that the small scale epicure must strike from his list a number of goodly things to eat and drink.

On French wines and foods the tariff has already begun to operate, and the French peas served up on the American "table-d'ot" hereafter will be such as are grown in the provinces of North Carolina or in the fields of Virginia. No more will the connoisseur brag on his Bordeaux, his Caillois and clarets, and even champagne will take an aeroplane flight in cost at the rate of $4 per case more.

And the fancy English crackers and dainty biscuits that old ladies in evening gowns and long, set beside the afternoon cup "that cheers, but not inebriates"—these have advanced 25 per cent in price, and for them must be substituted the real "English" goods made in Atlanta or in some other "cracker" town.

American wine presses will now grow busy and rich, and for rare and dainty delicacies the nephews of Uncle Sam must search at home. The French and Italian labels have had their day in Richmond and elsewhere in Mr. Tat's traveling grounds.

NEW BOOKS RECEIVED

Virginia Historical Society Acquires Rare and Valuable Volumes.

The Executive Committee of the Virginia Historical Society held yesterday, President W. Gordon McCabe occupying the chair, a meeting at which the following books were received: "The Life of George Washington," by C. Richardson, S. B. Patterson, W. G. Valentine, A. S. Clarke and W. G. Standard. Among the books reported as having been received since the last meeting were Armistead C. Gordon's "Life of William Fitzhugh Gordon"; Cyrus Hall McCormick's "Life and Work"; proceedings of the Royal Historical Society, and an Inventory of the Contents of Mt. Vernon, 1810, one of an edition of 500 copies, presented by W. K. Bixby, president of the Maryland Historical Society.

The executive committee accepted the portrait of the late Edward Wilson James, presented by Mr. Wagner, of Staunton, and directed that an appropriate label should be attached to it, expressing the society's sense of gratitude to Mr. James for his bequest. It was also ordered that such portraits as have not been labeled should have names attached to them. It was reported that President Lyon G. Tyler, of William and Mary College, will deliver the address at the annual meeting to be held the first week in January.

The following new members were elected: Mrs. W. H. Thompson, Kennelwood, Md.; Mrs. DeLaney Neill, New York; R. B. Yoakum, Kansas; N. H. Ballard, Georgia; Fred L. Fox, West Virginia; George S. Smith, Georgia; Judge L. L. Lewis and Major R. W. Hunter, Richmond, and the Michigan State Library.

MAJOR WELFORD CLAIMED BY DEATH

Last Survivor of Founders of Westmoreland Club Succumbs to Heart Failure.

Major Philip Alexander Welford, last survivor of the founders of the Westmoreland Club, and a distinguished veteran of the Confederate army, died suddenly yesterday morning at 7:30 o'clock, of heart failure. He attended the meeting of R. E. Lee Camp, Confederate Veterans, Friday night, and did not complain of ill health. Nothing was known of his condition until he was found unconscious in bed about half an hour before his death. Dr. H. E. Baker was summoned, but the patient died without regaining consciousness.

Major Welford, a descendant of the famous Virginia family of that name, was born seventy-six years ago at Fredericksburg, but the greater part of his life had been spent in Richmond, where he was associated with the leading social and business interests. He is survived by two daughters—Miss Roberts Welford, of this city, and Mrs. Robert Hamilton, of New York, and by three brothers—Judge Beverly Randolph Welford, of Gloucester county; Dr. John S. Welford, of Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company.

His wife, who was a Miss Street, died several years ago. Major Welford, at the outbreak of the Civil War, assisted in the organization of Company F, one of the military organizations that entered the strife from this city, and was elected a lieutenant in 1861 and later went to the front as a member of the Twenty-first Virginia Regiment, under command of General William B. Taliaferro. He was promoted to captain and afterwards became a major, but because of his talents as an organizer and accountant, was taken from the line and transferred to the staff by the Secretary of War, to take charge of the Haxall-Crenshaw Mills, which were furnishing supplies for the army. He was promoted to major and appointed treasurer of the Westmoreland Club, which position he held until his death.

Major Welford's funeral will take place to-morrow, and the interment will be made in Hollywood Cemetery. Definite arrangements for the services had not been completed last night, but will be announced to-day.

FAMOUS CHARACTER DEAD

Martha Cousins, Known by Everybody at Goochland Courthouse.

Martha J. Cousins (colored) died at her home in Goochland Courthouse on Thursday after a long illness. Had she lived until Christmas Day she would have been eighty years old. She was one of the landmarks of the county. She was born free, and early in life began to dispense cakes and knickknacks at a stand on the court green on court days; next it was a stew of oysters, then a dinner table, spread under the old oak where Lafayette in 1824 was entertained, and finally a regular house of entertainment. This she kept to the day of her death, and every judge and lawyer who has attended Goochland Courthouse in the last thirty years has partaken of her well-provided hospitality. She was tall, straight, and resembled more the Indian than the African, and with a large nose and a pair of eyes that were in her ears provided a picturesque appearance. She was kindly, obliging, and always possessed decided ability in the management of her affairs, having owned for years a nice home, and cottages, including the courthouse square.

GOVERNOR ASKED TO REFUSE PAPERS

Martinsville People Sign Petition for Refusal of Requisition.

What may be an indication of the position which Judge Samuel W. Williams, the Attorney-General-elect, will take in the matter of returning to West Virginia for trial for assault came to light yesterday. A petition was circulated by friends of Judge Williams at Martinsville, Henry county, asking Governor Swanson not to honor the requisition which has been issued by Governor Glasscock, of West Virginia. It is
